Chapter authors, each accomplished clinicians and active in the religions they describe, help the reader understand the unique history, beliefs, rituals and practices of the religion as well as commonly held views on such issues as divorce, homosexuality, birth control, abortion, suicide and euthanasia. Within the context of the particular faith, chapter authors describe the therapeutic, focusing on building relationships, assessment and diagnosis, and common clinical issues. By providing therapists with in-depth denominationally specific information and clinical guidelines, this book will help all psychotherapists more fully honour and make use of the unique religious beliefs and spiritual resources of their clients.
